

Program Notes:

Reflections rarely give an exact image; instead they produce an image that is somehow reminiscent of the original. "Autumn Reflection" is the capturing of two different and distinct photographs of the season: one, the melancholy from the passing of the year; the other, the wonder of the explosions of color in a vibrancy seen only at this time of year.

Jennifer Higdon